WE ARE HONORED,
TRULY
Nashville News

Some comment is due on the interesting events of the 2-day trial on false pretense alleged of the county judge.

A fair deduction would be that the jury found the judge innocent and the defense attorney found The Nashville News guilty. Of the latter charge we would not really know how to describe the content, but we do admit that The News, takes real pride in being the target of an attack by Boyd Tackett, certainly a leading criminal lawyer in these parts.

The chance to unload loud condemnation of The News before an appreciative, prejudiced audience was something any indiscriminate, bourbon-voiced showman would find irresistible.

The axiom in the legal fraternity goes something like this: when possessed with strong legal points, hammer home those points; when without those points, hammer the table, shriek, cry foul and divert the jury's attention to something away from the client.

Tackett is a past master at this and we acknowledge his prowess. To his condemnation we say "thank you" for condemnation from Tackett is the equivalent of sincere praise from his betters.

He was generous in his diversion too. He unloaded on a county clerk courageously determined to conduct the county business within legal limits despite a big handicap; he unloaded on all witnesses for the state, the state's attorneys and the grand jury which issued the indictment.

There are no apologies made for the objective news reports and the editorial opinions written about conduct in office and county business. Support for the grand jury, those efficient office holders will always originate here, and conversely misconduct or neglect of office by any public official, when known, will be printed for the information of the people.

That is a primary duty of any newspaper with a conscience and with courage of convictions. While we accept that role fully and without reservation, we also know that the negligent or accused officeholder will raise the false cry of persecution, slander and unfair play. That is the first and last refuge of those suspected of violating the trust placed in them by an often unknowing public.

So anonymous telephone calls, anonymous letters and threats of economic reprisal are wasteful.

The events of the second case, purchase of an item exceeding $1500 in costs without taking bids for the protection of the taxpayer and his money, have already had an influence upon other county judges. Act 1989 may be more vigorously en-

'Polls wrong'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern contends the polls are wrong in reporting him a landslide behind President Nixon—but if history is an accurate gauge, they aren't wrong enough for his political purposes.

Even in 1948, their worst year since representative voter sampling began, the margin of error of three major national surveys was not as great as the lead the polls now accord Nixon.

McGovern has compared the current surveys to those of that great 1948 upset, in which President Harry S. Truman confounded the pollsters by defeating Republican Thomas E. Dewey.

"We may see a thorough discrediting of the public-opinion polls in this campaign just as Harry Truman discredited them in 1948," McGovern said.

A Gallup Poll, completed two days before today's balloting, gave Nixon a lead over McGovern of 28 percentage points, 61 to 33. It was based on interviews with 3,500 probable voters.

A Louis Harris Survey made it 50 Nixon, 35 McGovern, a 24-point spread.

A Sidinger & Co. telephone survey of 1,030 likely voters on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 put Nixon at 58.8 per cent, McGovern at 27.

Hardships in voting

LITTLE DIOMEDE, Alaska (AP) — It took a special parachute drop to deliver ballots to this tiny Bering Sea island, a rocky outpost of democracy in the shadow of Siberia. Before the island's official returns are in, the next president may be settled in office.

Despite the hardships, Alaska election officials expect a 100 per cent turnout today among the village's 37 registered voters.

Little Diomed Island, so rocky the houses are built on stilts, has no room for an airstrip. And it is virtually cut off from the outside world in late fall and spring when the mushy Bering Sea ice won't support a temporary airfield. There also is too much ice for a boat to cut through.

As is the custom here, election officials chartered a bush plane recently to drop a well-wrapped bundle of ballots.

forced all over Arkansas because of a public event in Howard County.

The greatest benefit of all is that more people have become conscious of the need for honest, open and progressive conduct of county business, and now that some fresh air has been let into a stagnated system, then the cause of democracy is well served.

Election: Reading signs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rain pelted the sidewalk outside President Nixon's Arkansas campaign camp Monday. Seeing it, State Rep. George Nowotny grimaced.

He turned from the window, his face seeming to convey the thought that voters and rain don't mix.

"We feel very strongly that the bigger the turnout, the better it is for us," said Nowotny, the state coordinator for the Arkansas Committee to Re-elect the President.

Rain or shine, political prognosticators think today is the day Arkansas reverses a 100-year-old trend and votes for a Republican president.

Some certainties in state returns

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — They say only two things are for sure — death and Texas in football. But as Arkansans go to the polls today — a record vote is forecast — one other thing is certain: A black will be elected to the state legislature for the first time since Reconstruction. Fact is, four blacks will be elected from districts where only blacks are candidates.

Other than that, nothing seems assured in this general election. President Nixon is generally favored to win the state's six electoral votes, but Democrats are considered likely winners in the state-level races.

Neal Sox Johnson, executive director of the state Republican party, said on election eve, however, GOP candidates had "good shots" at two state races, but he would not identify them.

In addition to the presidential race, also on the Arkansas ballot will be Democratic Sen. John L. McClellan's bid for a sixth term against Republican Wayne Babbitt of North Little Rock, and Gov. Dale Bumpers' quest for a second term against Republican Len Blaylock.

Voters also will decide three other state constitutional offices and the issue of whether to repeal Arkansas "full-crew" train law.

In the only contested congressional election, GOP Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt of Harrison seeks a fourth term in the 3rd District against Guy Hatfield of Rogers, a retired actor who is the Democratic nominee.

State Auditor Jimmie "Red" Jones predicted Monday the voter turnout would be about 67-70, or 67 per cent of the record 1,010,396 registered to vote. While that would be the most ever to vote in Arkansas, the percentage of the number of registered voters casting ballots would be less than the 72.5 per cent who voted in the 1968 general election.

Absentee voting was reported heavy across the state Monday. Officials attributed this mainly to the votes of newly enfranchised 18-to-20-year-olds and the general interest in the presidential race.

The National Weather Service forecast clearing skies with temperatures in the 60s for today.

In 1968, Alabama Gov. George Wallace's third-party effort got the state's electoral votes with President Nixon finishing second and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey third. This was the first time since Reconstruction that the Democratic nominee did not carry Arkansas.

The American party presidential candidate, John G.

Schmitz, and his running mate, Tom Anderson, will not be on the Arkansas ballot. They are relying on write-in votes. Schmitz and Anderson have visited Arkansas but Tom Chipman of Benton, director of the Schmitz-Anderson campaign in the state, said Schmitz has no chance of repeating Wallace's victory in 1968.

The forces of Sen. George S. McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, have conceded all along that the South Dakota senator was the underdog in Arkansas. Brad Jesson of Fort Smith, state Democratic party chairman, said, though, that McGovern could win Arkansas "if everything breaks right."

The state has been wooed more extensively by the national tickets than ever before. McGovern has made two trips to Little Rock. His running mate, R. Sargent Shriver, has visited Little Rock and Texarkana. McGovern's wife also campaigned in Little Rock one day.

On the Nixon side, the President's daughter, Tricia Nixon Cox, came to Little Rock to open the state fair.

State political observers do not believe that Nixon's strength in Arkansas will be of much benefit to the Republicans who are contesting for state of-rice. The Republicans have waged vigorous campaigns, but generally have been ignored by their Democratic opponents.

Babbitt, 44, tried to get McClellan, 76, to debate and complained when the senator spurned the challenge that McClellan had no right "to ignore an entire election." McClellan won a tough primary fight, defeating Congressman David Pryor in a runoff.

Bumpers, 47, easily won in a five-man primary and has not campaigned much against Blaylock, 53, former state Welfare commissioner under former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

stitutional offices are between Democratic Lt. Gov. Bob Riley and Republican Ken Coon of Fort Smith. Democratic nominee Jim Guy Tucker of Little Rock and Republican Ed Bethune of Searcy for attorney general and five-term Democratic Secretary of State Kelly Bryant and Republican Jerry Climer.

Climer is the Pulaski County clerk and Tucker is prosecuting attorney for Pulaski and Perry counties.

In addition, there will be 11 contested races for the Arkansas Senate and 23 for the House. Democrats again are assured of dominance in both houses.

(Continued from front page.) last campaign in a career that has included five national races: two for the vice presidency and three for the presidency.

McGovern, by contrast, traveled more than 200,000 miles to 26 states, winding up with a walk Monday morning down New York's Fifth Avenue, a declaration to 15,000 in Philadelphia that "we want, and indeed must have, a president who will summon this nation to a higher standard," and speeches at airport rallies in Wichita, Kan., Long Beach and Sioux Falls.

The "minor-party" candidates were busy on election eve also. American party presidential nominee John Schmitz declared in San Francisco that his party will become "the real political opposition to the establishment which now runs both old parties and the federal government."

Communist party nominee Gus Hall, in a network TV speech, said: "The Republican and Democratic candidates have not presented any meaningful new solutions and they never can, because they are hogtied to the system of corporate profits...."

In congressional contests, Republican hopes of wresting Senate control appeared to rest with several close races in the Deep South with the GOP bidding to take over Democratic seats in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama while fighting to hold the seat of John G. Tower in Texas.

New England was another battleground with three incumbents seen in some trouble—Democrats Thomas J. McIntyre of New Hampshire and Claiborne D. Pell of Rhode Island, and Republican Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Hanoi says choice clear

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam said that the American people in the presidential election today are choosing between war and peace.

An editorial from Nhan Dan, the official newspaper, said President Nixon still "shows himself the representative of the most perfidious and bellicose forces of aggression." It added:

"It is up to the American people to select the way of war and aggression, the way to worse and worse defeat, or the way of ending the war to build a just peace, peace in real honor, the way that is in accord with the new force balance of the world and the flow of history."

"If the U.S. leaders choose to continue the war, the Vietnamese people will have no other alternative than to continue the way they have marched in the last dozen years, persistently and vigorously, urging the struggle to total victory."

Historic treaty is approved

By ANTHONY COLLINGS

Associated Press Writer

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt's cabinet today approved the historic treaty to normalize its relations with East Germany.

The Communist regime was expected to do likewise shortly, party chief Erich Honecker having declared that the pact was welcomed.

A draft of the treaty was agreed on Monday night following two years of negotiations. The Bonn cabinet authorized Egon Bahr, the state secretary who negotiated for Brandt, to initial it "shortly" with the East German negotiator, Michael Kohl.

In the wake of the conclusion of the treaty, Danish Foreign Minister Knud B. Andersen announced that his government as well as those of Sweden and Norway expected to complete arrangements for diplomatic recognition of East Germany in two or three weeks. Denmark and Norway are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Besides setting up some type of diplomatic recognition, the pact clears the way for the two German states to apply for United Nations membership.

Bonn's main concern has been to avoid anything that might worsen chances for eventual German reunification. Details of the treaty were kept secret while both sides studied it. But one West Berlin newspaper gave this outline of the treaty's main points:

—East Germany will send an ambassador to Bonn and Bonn will send a minister to East Berlin, each to be called a "plenipotentiary."

—West Germany will add a

Visitors toured an exhibit of projects concerning daily life in foreign countries made by students in the social studies classes.

Sorceress picks McGovern

PHU NHUAN, South Vietnam (AP) — A Vietnamese sorceress has heard it loud and clear from the spirit world that Sen. George McGovern will win the U.S. presidential election.

"This will be bad for peace and bad for Vietnam," said Mme. Siahawath, who spent 50 minutes in deep meditation on the American election after the artillery died down Monday night.

She said she gave her prediction both the Cambodian "burning candle mythology" and the incense burning test but did not use the splashing water mythology "because that is for broken hearts."

Peering over her gold-rimmed spectacles, the Cambodian-trained soothsayer predicted an unhappy future for the McGovern administration and a worry-free retirement for President Nixon.

"Between March and September of next year will be the dark months for Sen. McGovern," Mme. Siahawath warned. "His administration will fall from favor, his dynasty will be in danger."

Blass emphasizes elegant sexiness

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're a woman who doesn't like wolf whistles and ogles, you can forget about the evening clothes designed by Bill Blass for next spring.

You also can forget about them if you have the least bit of excess poundage.

Blass emphasized elegant sexiness for night in his spring collection shown Monday.

Plunging V necklines, halters revealing a vast expanse of bare back and clinging, thin fabrics showing every line and curve were dominant in his evening dresses and lounging pajamas.

Blass proclaimed as his favorite a slinky long jersey dress with a deep scooped halter neck and a cutaway back, showing a wide strip of skin above the waist. He liked it so much, in fact, he showed it in three color schemes.

Another sexy outfit for evening was a pair of lounging pajamas with a gold snakeskin top, showing lots of décolletage, and metallic beige trousers.

For those who don't care for the slinky, glamorous look Blass provided a sharp contrast in what he termed his "demure dresses" — covered-up girlish gowns you could wear to the Junior Prom.

A beautiful example was a long dress with a baby-blue angora wool top and a billowing white skirt.

For daytime, Blass reverted to his hallmark of tailored simplicity, with a soft feminine touch.

He's pushing dresses and suits for spring, but in non-spring colors — beige, navy and white — so they can be worn through the fall. Stripes also are big with Blass. Carrying out that theme particularly well was a navy and white striped twill coat over a matching striped skirt and striped wool voile shirt, with a striped cowboy kerchief around the neck.

Pleated skirts, with hemlines just above the knee, dominated daytime wear.

Western theme is used

Country and western music sounded at the Hope Country Club Saturday night, Nov. 4, when a Western Party was enjoyed by 80 guests. Decorations carried out the frontier theme with wagon wheels, checked table cloths, etc.

After dancing to a western band, the guests were served dips 'n' chips and cold drinks. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Arnold, Terry Hairr, and Mr. and Mrs. David Brown.

Hosiery and bodywear go together this fall. Bodysuits come in all the ready-to-wear blouse and sweater styles, in all kinds of patterns, plaids, checks, geometrics. Some have contrasting dickeys, scarves or detachable sleeves.

While wide belts are in fashion's front ranks for men for the women, the emphasis is on the narrow. Emphasis with the narrow belts is on quality. Suede is an important leather.

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

This year the unexpected or unusual may play a prominent role in your affairs. You may find yourself traveling more for business than you had expected.

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): Try to get others to make quick decisions if their opinions are required. Over-selling defeats your purposes.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): Some task you want to have done could afford you much pleasure. Watch costs very carefully.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Agreements under consideration contain some extraordinary benefits. Delays in expediting them may cause some frustration.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Unexpected aid from another makes your work easier although someone in the background is dragging his feet.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): Information you've been trying to get is now available. A friend's analysis is not very helpful.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): Situations continue to offer financial opportunities. They look interesting provided they don't mar your reputation.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23): Give your new ideas a chance to tell so they can work for your maximum benefit. Impatience only slows things down.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22): Unusual events continue as boosters for your material gain. Old obligations may require some immediate attention.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21): You're in a good cycle. You can accomplish very much on your own. Partners or associates somehow impede progress.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): What you want to accomplish takes a little longer than you first thought. A break is coming that will speed things.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19): Plans you presently envision could work because of your unusual approach. Just don't climb too far out on that limb.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20): A lucky break could give unexpected financial assistance. Someone in your family doesn't like the way you are handling things.

Sportswear fresher than ever

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — In creating their holiday sportswear collection, the designers at Pendleton have come up with a fresh look in fabric, color and line — all worked within the framework of traditional quality sportswear.

Plaids are the special talent of this company and they come out fresher than ever, bearing names like denim red, bicycle blue, Go-lightly brown, Star Spangled Red, White and Blue.

Stripes, tweeds, herringbones are also much in evidence as are beautiful basics such as white, cocoa, gray, which provide a perfect backdrop for the pattern and color excitement. Pastels are there, too, in a soft, subtle sky blue and cocoa mix, as well as in solid sky blue. Sweaters share in the pattern plan, with tweedy looks and pebbled weaves as well as stripes.

Important style notes show up in dolman sleeve wrap coats, nipped-at-the-waist Windsor jackets, cardigan jackets with suede-cloth trim and vests, long skirts that flare or fall straight, boot-length skirts, floppy pleats that stop at knee length.

There's showmanship in the nostalgic glance at fashions of the '30s and '40s with sweater sets, cuffed trousers, look-of-satin blouses and again that dolman sleeve.

Jumpers return in several style variations — long halter-style, long bib-front or short zip-front, to combine with pants or wear solo.

The shirtdress goes to an important new length for hostess evenings. Slim, to-the-floor styling is interrupted only by a side slit that's pure drama.

A strong point of the line is the mix-and-mingle possibilities. One jacket goes equally well over boot-length skirt, long skirt, knee-length skirt or pants. Patterns match or blend with solids. Three pieces could take a woman through a weekend.

The very real wearability of this holiday line is considered a strong factor in its wide marketplace acceptance.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

The shetland shape (left) is elegantly suited for a young look. It's good for daytime, night time, any time. Richly woolled from head to toe in a long skirt and cardigan jacket, it's teamed with a nylon acetate stock tie blouse. The jumper classic (center) spells Argyle elegance with halter necks. Knit body shape tops a nylon acetate glossy blouse. Together for the young classic (right) is a bright denim plaid boxer pant, topped by a rich flannel shirt jacket worn over a mock turtleneck sweater. All from Pendleton in 100 per cent wool.

P.S. Jane has friends her own age—she's not retarded or anything. Not backward either!

TIM: If "nice and honest" doesn't work, take another route: Act

YOUNGER than your age for a change. Make Jane feel like a mother-image. Put on the dumb kid brother act. If you're a good enough actor, she won't be hanging around much longer.—SUE

DEAR TIM: ...Unless Jane ENJOYS playing mother.

Sometimes "being mean" is the only way to get your meaning across. If Sue's doesn't work, then tell her you're through, you have another girl now; and don't back down!—HELEN

DEAR RAP: I'm more mature than most kids of 16. I like a guy who is 21, but he used to take dope and my parents won't give him a chance. Really, he's changed.

I don't like sneaking, but my folks won't even let me talk to him on the telephone. He wants me to travel with him next summer and I'm wild about traveling, but if I go, my father might track me down and put him in jail. Meanwhile I see him whenever I can get away. Naturally, he won't come to the house.

How do you convince hopelessly old-fashioned parents?—WISHING AND HOPING

DEAR W AND H: Sometimes "old-fashioned" parents are like antiques. They have a lot of value, once you polish them up.

Instead of putting them down as hopelessly, try really talking it out. When they know you'll come half-way to see their side, maybe they'll give you a guy a chance to prove he's changed.—SUE ...And maybe he hasn't changed as much as you'd like to believe. Would a trustworthy adult ask a 16-year-old girl for sneak dates? Would he encourage her to run off and travel with him?

Parents aren't "hopelessly old-fashioned" when they worry about a daughter who isn't as "mature" as she thinks. If your guy is really straight, he'd make an effort to convince your folks he's no threat...nor will he, so long as you keep meeting him on the sly. Don't!

No Problem

The long evening suits which are really long dresses with matching jackets eliminate the problem of what to wear over a bare-shouldered evening dress.

Original Overalls

Kindergarten overalls, popular with the college set, require less money than imagination. They're just plain old overalls appliqued with rocking horses, rabbits and farm scenes.

Olympic committee seeking new image

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Olympic Committee, brushed by external problems and facing internal unrest, is going out after a new image—a real Madison Avenue image.

The USOC announced Monday at a meeting here that it hoped to hire a public relations firm to give the group a new—and better—look.

"We feel this is advisable because of the criticism and distortions that came out of the Munich Olympics," said Clifford H. Buck, the outgoing USOC president.

This position was solidified by Robert J. Kane, a longtime Olympic official who now is first vice president of the USOC.

He warned the members: "We can no longer live in a vacuum. We are being clinically scrutinized by an aggressive and probing press. We can no longer tolerate tawdry politics."

Kane, the athletic director at Cornell University, added that the Olympic Committee "treats our athletes as mindless chat-tels."

"If we don't put our house in order, someone else will put it in order for us," said Kane, who lost a bitter battle for the nomination as USOC president to Philip O. Krumin.

Monday's meeting at a mid-town hotel was the first since the turbulent Munich Games, where the U.S. Olympians were beset with a myriad of problems. The various American mishaps, blunders and defeats brought warnings of a possible Congressional investigation and provoked the withdrawal of membership by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Cornhuskers close in on second ranked Alabama

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

The top 13 teams in The Associated Press college football ratings, headed by Southern California, remained unchanged today but the defending national champion Nebraska Cornhuskers closed in on second-ranked Alabama.

Southern Cal, a 44-3 victor over Washington State for its ninth consecutive triumph, received 40 first-place votes and 978 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama trounced Mississippi State 58-14 and picked up three first-place ballots and 821 points while Nebraska trimmed Colorado, rated 15th last week, 33-10 and received five votes for No. 1 and 797 points.

Fourth-ranked Michigan got one first-place vote and 708 points after beating Indiana 21-10 while the other top vote went to No. 5 Ohio State, which downed Minnesota 27-19 and earned 600 points.

Louisiana State's last-second 17-16 squeaker over Mississippi enabled the Tigers to hold onto sixth place, followed by Oklahoma, UCLA, Texas and Penn State. Oklahoma turned back Iowa State 20-6, UCLA overtook Stanford 20-23, Texas defeated Southern Methodist 17-9 and Penn State drubbed Maryland 46-16.

Auburn remained atop the Second Ten, followed by Notre Dame, Tennessee, Missouri, Texas Tech, Colorado, Iowa State, North Carolina and Arizona State, with Stanford and Yale tied for 20th.

Last week, the Second Ten consisted of Auburn, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Iowa State, Colorado, Missouri, Louisville, Texas Tech, Air Force and Arkansas.

Louisville, Air Force and Arkansas dropped out of the Top Twenty by losing, respectively, to Tulsa 28-20, Army 17-14 and Texas A&M 10-7.

They were replaced by North Carolina, which beat Clemson 26-10; Arizona State, a 35-14 winner over Texas-El Paso; Stanford, which led eighth-ranked UCLA until the final four minutes; and Yale, an impressive 45-14 winner over favored Dartmouth.

Record turnout predicted in Olympic voting

DENVER (AP) — A "yes" vote means no and a "no" vote the opposite on the controversial amendment to ban further state spending for the 1976 Denver Winter Games, but despite the confusion the proposal may spur nearly 80 per cent of Colorado's registered voters to the polls today.

State election officials say predictions of a record turnout — perhaps 80,000 of the 1.3 million registered voters — are based at least in part on the heated debate generated by the Olympics proposal.

It would prohibit the state from levying taxes, or appropriating any funds or even loaning any funds to aid staging of the Games by the host city Denver.

The Denver Olympic Organizing Committee (DOOC) says despite the fact only about $4 million of the $35 million it says the Games will cost would ac-Cleancut, crewcut, shortcut hair makes a good buck, Met or Bear?

By IRA BERKOW, NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—The forces of hairlessness are being cut to the quick.

In rapid order recently, Mark Spitz and his lip brush won seven gold medals in the Olympics, the Oakland A's and their fuzzy mugs triumph in the World Series and the Philadelphia Eagles fall flat on their naked faces.

The last is most disastrous. The Eagles last season were the best example of the virtues of hairlessness: they shone like a bald head in the sun.

Ed Khayat had taken over as coach after they had lost five straight NFL games. He came in on the war path. He brilliantly reasoned that a scalped player is a great player. Within minutes, the Eagles' locker room took on the look of a hair swamp.

"I have no comment to the press," Bill Hobbs, a line-backer, had said, "except to say that I love being a prisoner of war."

"I offered to meet them halfway and cut off one side of my mustache," said end Mel Tom. "But they refused."

"If this team is so grooming conscious," asked Tim Rossovich, "why don't they ask owner Leonard Tose to trim his eyebrows?"

The Eagles, naturally, went on a winning streak. But this season they have been unmercifully stropped by the opposition. TV sportscaster Don Meredith wondered if Khayat would begin making his players shave at halftime.

Hair is one of the great issues of the times. It has split generations, political parties, teams. Many think it ridiculous, that it shouldn't be important at all, that it's just splitting hairs, if you will, hairs.

"Winning or losing," said Rossovich last season, "has nothing to do with hair."

Ah, but the gentle wild man is wrong. Some football players believe they can butt people better because more hair means more padding and fewer splintered heads.

Mark Spitz felt that the fuzz at his brow actually made him swim swifter because it absorbed water. And everyone from melodrama villains to Dick Williams knows that one can think clearer by twirling a mustache.

Somehow, coaches within the last several years have come to feel that hairy-faced and hairy-headed athletes (interestingly, not hairy-chested athletes) pose a threat to discipline, victories, morality and team morale.

Slowly, this notion is being snipped away. Joe Namath, the best quarterback in creation, shocked the world by growing a Fu Manchu mustache and still was able to thread a needle at 70 yards.

A bearded Joe Frazier won the world's heavyweight championship.

Tennis champ Stan Smith won't go anywhere without the furry canopy over his lips.

A hirsute iconoclast named Bill Russell changed the face, as it were, of basketball.

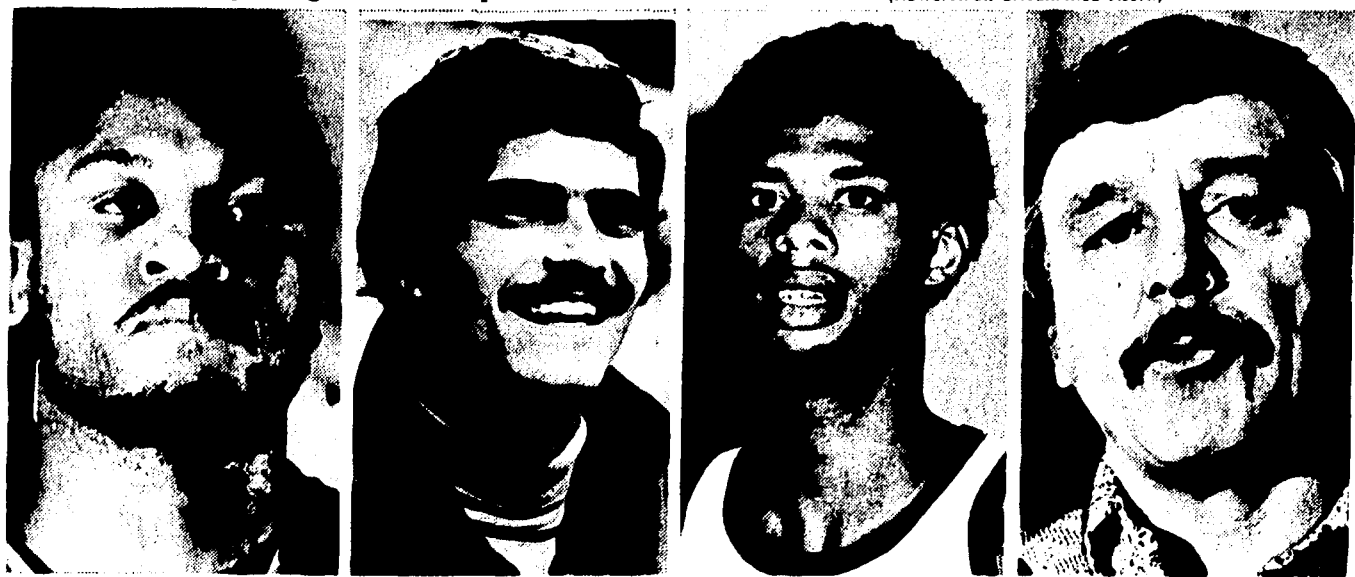

Then Jack Scott, sometimes called "the guru of Jock Liberation," daintily tweaked coaches in a magazine article, "How does a latent homosexual prevent himself from manifesting this latent potential in overt acts? He will often try to project a super-masculine image..." Coaches who relate short hair with super-masculinity did not think this was too damn humorous.

And some coaches must have cringed when Dick Williams, manager of the A's, told why he will probably shave his mustache off after the season. He said he grew the 'stache because Charlie Finley, A's owner, had wanted him to. "But now he wants me to take it off," said Williams. "He says we have been winning so much he's been kissing me every day and my mustache is starting to itch him."

But the definitive reason why hair should stay was given by Archie Moore, former light heavyweight boxing champion. He was once asked if his wife minded kissing him with his mustache and goatee.

"Of course not," Moore replied. "She's happy to go through the forest to get to the picnic."

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

IF JOE FRAZIER, Mark Spitz, Kareem Abdul Jabbar and Dick Williams, all at the top of their professions, are sporting the hairy look, can it be all bad?

Texas meets Baylor in SWC showdown Saturday

By DENNE H. FREEMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff says he knows Texas' game plan and he would do the same thing if he was playing the Bears in Saturday's Southwest Conference football showdown at Waco.

"It's no secret what they are going to do when you consider we have 200 pound defensive tackles and they have giants in the offensive line," Teaff says. "They are going to come right at us—that's what I'd do."

Teaff adds "The University of Texas is everything they are supposed to be... they are technically sound, have outstanding speed and tremendous defense."

"And they've got as fine a 1-2 punch as I've ever seen in (full-back) Roosevelt Leaks and (quarterback) Alan Lowry. They are so big I'm not even going to put their size on our scouting report."

However, Teaff would not sell his Bears short emotionally.

"I don't believe in jinxes so count me out," Teaff says when reminded the Bears haven't beaten Texas in 14 years. "As far as being mentally ready, I think we are. We've just got to stand up to all that power. The thing that makes them awesome is that offensive line... that blow off that blow off that ball like something else."

Baylor has offensive guards Harold Rodgers, Tim Mills and David Walters on the injury list along with defensive tackle Joe Johnson.

In Austin, Texas Coach Darrell Royal said Baylor is in a "fighting mood and will probably have something to confuse us... but I'm not as concerned about that as I am their ability to jump in there and play hard, aggressive, tough football. They're playing with enthusiasm that is unbelievable. They're out of their heads now."

Royal recalls Texas barely escaped 21-14 at Waco two years ago.

"They've got some people (now) to get hot with," Royal says.

He adds Coach Grant Teaff has done a "great job" of getting the student body "fired up and the players enthused."

Royal reported that defensive end Bill Rutherford had a hurt knee and might be slowed for the Baylor game.

In Fort Worth, Texas Christian Coach Billy Tohill announced the Horned Frogs will have a new quarterback when the Horned Frogs meet Texas Tech in Lubbock Saturday in another SWC battle.

Tohill shifted Terry Drennan from safety. Drennan began the season as an understudy to Kent Marshall but moved to safety when regular safety Harold Muckleroy suffered a head injury.

Marshall was lost with a broken collarbone against Tulsa and junior college transfer Perry Senn moved up.

"Terry is one of the most fierce competitors on our team," Tohill said. "We need some new life offensively and we're hoping he can give us the spark. It will be hard at first for him because he has not taken a snap in five weeks, but we have all the faith in the world in him."

Tohill gave his team the day off Monday, saying "I feel it will do us all good to get away from the field a couple of days."

TCU meets Tech Saturday at 11:50 a.m. in a regionally televised game in Lubbock.

Rhodes out for season

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Monday that junior linebacker Danny Rhodes probably will be lost to the team for the rest of the season.

Rhodes injured a big toe on the first series of downs in last Saturday's game against Texas A&M.

Johnny U. retiring?

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Johnny Unitas kicked his famed No. 19 jersey into a corner. Pro football's "Mr. Quarterback" admitted his love affair with the Baltimore Colts was over.

"There's no use in staying around here," he said, "not the way they're treating me. There's nothing I can do about it. It was their decision not to play me anymore."

Baltimore had just cracked a four-game losing streak, handing the New England Patriots a fifth straight defeat, 24-17, in a Monday night television match-up of National Football League cream puffs.

But, Johnny wasn't celebrating.

Standing two cubicles away was handsome, young Marty Domres. The Ivy Leaguer from Columbia was the crown prince given the job Unitas owned for 16 years.

Somebody asked Domres if Johnny U. helps him.

"We talk," said Marty, refusing to glance toward the quick-dressing old pro. "Yeah, we talk."

Domres hit 10 of 19 against New England for only 89 yards. One of his shots was a 17-yarder for a touchdown to tight end Tom Mitchell. He admitted he still has trouble pulling the trigger.

"I feel more at home each game," he said, toweeling a head of thinning hair. "It just takes time. I've become a little too cautious, unwilling to cut it loose. But, that'll come."

Joe Thomas, new general manager of the Colts, was the man who made the decision to bench Unitas and look ahead with the 25-year-old Domres.

"You can't keep going with a quarterback who'll be 40 years old next May," said Thomas, builder of NFL powerhouses as personnel chief at Minnesota and Miami.

John Sandusky, the longtime Colt assistant coach who became the field boss when Thomas fired Don McCafferty a month ago, was smiling over his first victory.

"It wasn't pretty, but it was a win," he said. "It's my first and I'm proud of it." Sandusky's players gave him the game ball as a tribute. He is now 1-2 and the Colts are 2-4, tied with the Pats for third in the American conference East.

Sandusky wondered for awhile if he would survive the "beer bottle touchdown."

In the second quarter with Baltimore ahead 7-3, New England fans were booing over an interference call and another penalty for roughing the passer.

Domres flipped back to Don Nottingham and the chunky runner bounced untouched into the end zone. But, by golly, it wasn't a touchdown. Some unhappy Patriot fan had saved a score with his beer bottle.

One official, the back judge, said he had called timeout amid all the noise after spotting the bottle lying in the end zone.

The unhappy Colts tried it again, but failed. They settled for a nine-yard field goal by Jim O'Brien.

Decalcification ... spinal hump

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Does decalcification of the spine which often occurs after menopause cause dowager's hump? What can be done to prevent this besides increased calcium intake? Are posture exercises beneficial?

Dear Reader — Yes, after the change in life calcium is withdrawn from the spine and the body of the vertebrae lose size, some may even collapse. This is responsible for the change in the spine that you mention. To reduce the likelihood of having this, women should be certain that they get at least the same amount of calcium found in one quart of milk each day. This can be gotten by using skim milk to avoid the fat content of whole milk if one desires to do this or it can be gotten from the nonfat dry milk powder products which can be used in increased amounts in cooking. Finally, calcium tablets can be taken just as is commonly done during pregnancy to prevent a woman from having a calcium deficiency.

In addition, a number of doctors feel that at the change of life a woman should have some replacement of her female hormones, particularly if there is evidence on testing that there is a female hormone deficiency. There is some evidence that this will help to prevent these changes.

Postural exercises are great and women should concentrate on exercises that help strengthen the muscles in their spine. This includes such things as back bends, any of the trapeze-type exercises in which one is hanging by the arms and any of the exercises that strengthen all of the back and abdominal muscles.

These efforts should begin before changes in the spine are noticed. It is easier to prevent these changes than it is to do anything about them once they have started to occur — although the process may be slowed down with calcium and sometimes hormone therapy and proper exercise.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am getting concerned and a little embarrassed about my prominent nose turning red. Is the blood circulation bad because of wearing glasses? One connects red noses with people who consume much alcohol, but having three or four drinks a week really isn't much, or is it? Most of the time it turns red when I am warm or it itches. Please help me with an answer.

ENTERS PLEA

BLYTHERVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Marcia Lou Hancock, former assistant city clerk of Blytheville, pleaded nolo contendere in Circuit Court Monday to a charge of embezzling public funds.

The plea means she stands ready to be sentenced without acknowledging any guilt. No date was set for sentencing.

Officials said an audit showed about $14,000 had not been accounted for from funds of the clerk's office. Mrs. Hancock was indicted in January by a Mississippi County Grand Jury.

When you vote FOR Act 1, you won't cost anyone his job.

When Act 1 is passed this November, job and earnings protection for train crewmen will become Arkansas law.

Written into the Act itself is this guarantee: "No railroad employee who has seniority in train, engine or yard service on the effective date of this Act shall be discharged, laid off, furloughed or suffer a reduction in earnings by reason of this Act."

Anybody who tries to tell you differently is simply not telling the truth. Contracts between the United Transportation Union and railroad management providing job and earnings protection plus more generous benefits have also been signed.

Here's what will happen when Act 1 passes. No one will lose his job or be reduced in earnings. However, as men retire, are promoted or leave train service, then those jobs not required by the railroad or the union will not be refilled. This process will take about 10 years to reach its full fair-play effect.

Vote FOR Act 1 and let the union agreements go into effect.

When you vote FOR Act 1, you won't cost anyone his job.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Yesterday we commented on the inadvisability of declarer talking during the play. It is even less advisable for a defender to talk.

We have set up the same North-South hands as yesterday, but changed the East-West holdings and the bidding.

North rebid two no-trump. West opened the queen of diamonds; took one look at dummy and remarked, "If I thought you would stay in spades I would have doubled."

South said, "Thank you," and proceeded to wrap the contract around West's neck. West was an honest man. His remark clearly indicated that he held four trumps to the queen-jack. It also told South that he could make his contract if West held the right distribution.

South won the diamond. Cashed one trump and the other high diamond to discard one club from dummy. Ruffed a diamond in dummy and played three rounds of hearts to discard his own last diamond, followed by three rounds of clubs. South had to
